

September 16, 2025: On Us Playing Our Part

And to help you 'get off' in your newfound placement as world's villain, we will all run around and pretend to be afraid for our lives.

'Run for your lives!' Will be my way of getting us started. Then you can chase us around and destroy anyone that you please so that you can have a momentary smirk of happiness in your world again.

Imagine that, Donald. You can end a person's entire existence. Destroy their progress, end their hope for a future, and take a person out of a family forever.

Donald, imagine your potential to make children grow up without a father or a mother. Imagine your ability to enslave that person to your will - just so that you can gain a momentary smirk on your disgusting orange face.

Wow! You are the big monster now. Let us all run around and play our part to give you the thrill of taking America and yourself further into evil than anyone else in history!

Go now! Enjoy your temporary appeasement. I hope that you get everything that you need from it - and then get yourself some counseling.

You have truly, honestly, lost it, Donald.

You would rather be Godzilla than President of the United States of America.